DECIDUOUS MEN MAP OUT PROGRAM

A meeting of the deciduous fruit department of the Farm Bureau was called by G. P. Weldon, Chairman of that department, at the Chaffey Union High School Wednesday morning. There was a good attendance and a very definite program was laih out for the coming year, including spraying of deciduous rfuit trees for black scale, this being a fall spray, and spring spraying for the different diseases that occur at that season, also pruning demonstrations and possible soil moisture and cover crops and fertilizer demonstrations. There will be a number of experts secured in the handling of the program, men who are thoroughly conversant with each line of work. This program will probably begin the first of November. The county was laid off into districts, each district to have a field day once each month at which time every deciduous grower will be notified. Dates will be announced later and all are asked to watch and be present at the demonstratione. It will be of benefit to all growers. Similar programs will be outlined in the other departments, particularly the Dairy and Citrus. Announcements of programs will be made later.

MANY LOCAL MEN BUY CHEVROLETS

H. H. Wolfe, Chevrolet motor car distributer for the West End, has just received some of the new model "490's," which are making a great hit with all motorists who have had an opportunity to look them over.

G. B. West and Mrs. West who left by motor for the northern part of the state to visit his brother Dave West and incidentally get some deer hunting, write that they have had good sport. Mr. West shot a deer weighing 200 pounds, too heavy to move, which had to be hauled up by ropes to some distance above the ground, before the carcass could be put into a vehicle. Mrs. West has jerked some, in order that her Upland friends may have a taste of venison on her return. They report deer to be plentiful in the hills near Red Bluff.

WHO BUMPED THE SANTA FE DEPOT?

Who ran into the Santa Fe depot Wednesday night.?

This question has not yet been answered, and whether it ever will be or not is problematical.

A small car was going south on Second avenue and approached A street just as a car was going east on A street. The driver of the car going south on Second decided he'd beat the other fellow to it, so "gave her the gas" only to wake up to the fact that the Santa Fe depot was in the middle of the road.

Breaking one of the posts that protects the depot from just such attacks, the car crashed into the station and evidently came out of the smash with only a broken light and a badly bent fender, for the driver backed from the scene and drove on his way.

CHAFFEY ORGAN RECITAL OCT. 10

Monday evening, October 10, at 8 o'clock, is the date set for the opening of the new Chaffey pipe organ. This concert, which will be given by Mr. Blakeslee, will be free to the public. It is the hope of the Board of Trustees that a number of free recitals will be given during the winter.

The program will consist of modern music, and contains some highly interesting and striking numbers, demonstrating the varied resources of this great instrument. All music lovers and adherents of the Chaffey district will be vitally concerned with this event and are urged to remember the date.

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH BEUTLER

Four weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Schmidt arrived from Kansas, bringing with them Mrs. Schmidt's aged mother. Mr. Schmidt fixed for her a cozy little home in which she expected to spend the rest of her earthly pilgrmage. However, before she got settled in her new home with her children she took ill quite suddenly and September 28th, about noon, she quietly passed away to occupy a home not made of hands, eternal in the homeland. She did not suffer a great deal and was grateful for every service rendered by her children and others. She loved to listen to the good old Gospel songs and accordingly some of the Mennonite ladies sang for her several times. As she listened her face was light with peace and joy.

Funeral services in both English and German in the Mennonite church will be held tomorrow, Saturday, October 1st, at 2:30 p. m.

Interment at her old home near Moundridge, Kansas, in the cemetery of her home church. Mrs. Beutler was born February 21, 1841, in Putnam county, Ohio. She died at the age of 80 years, 7 months and 7 days.

SUPERVISORS HOLD A LIVELY SESSION

E. P. Lawrence, proprietor of the Base Line Grocery, San Bernardino, was awarded the contract of furnishing the County Hospital with supplies on his bid of $677.94.

Mrs. Stanley, County Superintendent of Schools, calls attention to the fact that parents are required to register their minor children in the school districts in which they reside. The ages are from 3 to 18, and the last days are from October 3rd to the 8th.

The Supervisors are considering the adoption of the plan that has proved so successful in fourteen counties. The draft of the plan was offered to them by Mr. Pendleton of the State Board of Charities. One of the principal innovations was the making of two Supervisors ex-officio members of the Welfare Board and htus keeping check on the movements and needs of the Board. By this method Mr. Pendleton stated that other counties had overcome friction as the two Supervisors who attended all meeting of the Welfare Board and could act as intermediaries between the Supervisors and the Welfare Commission and also act as a balance on the Welfare Commission. There will be a full discussion of this phase at the next regular meeting. A new ordinance will be drafted along the lines of the draft as presented by Mr. Pendleton. Many of its features are already incorporated in the present ordinance.

Former San Bernardino Editor Visits Sheriff Shay

Fred Goodcell, a brother of Superior Court Judge Rex B. Goodcell, walked into the Sheriff's office to greet Sheriff Shay. He had a busy time renewing old acquaintances among the Sheriff's force.

Mr. Goodcell stated that he had just returned from Salt Lake City, where he was editor of the Salt Lake Telegram. He said that his primary object in going to Salt Lake was to acquire an interest in the Salt Lake Telegram. He did so to a considerable extenet, but when the principal owner, Mr. Hall, was stricken with creeping paralysis and sold out and returned to California, his native heath. He will demain in San Bernardino long enough to renew friendships and then visit San Diego. eH then plans to go to San Francisco, where he intends to go into the advertising business and later when his son leaves college, to take him into business with him. That is providing he does not get sidetracked by some newspaper, as he has had several flattering offers from newspaper interests. Mr. Goodcell was formerly connected with the San Bernardino Sun and the Index.

F. J. Atkinson, Deputy Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, is anticipating with much pleasure a trip with the Elks Drill Team to Santa Cruz.

NOTICE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

According to the new state law, which comes into effect to-morrow, all minors between the ages of 7 and 18 must be registered by their parents or guardians next week. The place for this is the nearest school building to the one registering, and Mrs. Troeller, district superintendent, announces that the people in Upland and vicinity can register at the Upland schools any time during school hours fror Monday morning to Friday afternoon of next week. Word has been sent out through those children in grammar school, but the law reads "all minors," so people having children under 18 in the high school or any wrere else, must register them too. There is a severe penalty attached to nonfulfillment of this law. It is new this year but will remain effective throughout the coming ones.

CHARLES RAY IN "SCRAP IRON"

In "Scrap Iron," which will be shown at the Colonial Theatre to-night and to-morrow afternoon and evening, Charles Ray gives you the greatest ring fight you've ever seen; in a play of vivid action and humor. One of the features about the remarkably exciting fight is that the rounds run on the screen about the same time that they do in the ring. The fight arena is the exact replica of the one at Vernon, and Jack Doyle, owner of the Vernon club, gave many helpful suggestions in the screening of the film. The leading woman in "Scrap Iron" is Vera Stedman, others in the cast are Tom Wilson, Stanton Heck, Charles Wheelock, Lydia Knott. Mary Miles Minter plays the part of Judith Baldwin in "Moonlight and Honeysuckle," on Sunday, supported by an excellent cast, and Monday and Tuesday will be shown "Appearance," depicting a young married couple whose standard is "wnat will people say?"

Splendid comedies are shown with all these films, and old favorites like "The Gumps" and "Toonersville," are scheduled for to-night and Sunday.

AMERICAN LEGION TO SHOW WAR FILM

Through an arrangement with state headquarters of the American Legion, Department of California, Upland Post No. 73 has been able to obtain for public review the U. S. Official Signal Corps pictures of the "Ninety-First Division in Action." They will be offered at the Colonial Theatre Monday, October 10th, afternoon and evening.

When you get your tickets forthis presentation do not expect to witness a love story nor a comedy. Rather you will see some of the most realistic battle scenes ever puotographed in which thousands of troops participated. Particularly will patrons be interested in offensive patties near Ypres and n the Argonne. These two battles n which 91st men participated with valor were deciding factors in the final result of the war.

In sending these pictures out the American Legion desires to give every patriotic citizen an opportunity to see how their men disported themselves in actual battle. Every phase of modern warfare is pictured. You will see the infantry go "over the top" artillery fire, anti-aircraft and machine gun fire, tanks going into action and aerial battles—yet there is nothing gruesome about the exhibition. Rather it is an nistorical educational film which every patriotic man, woman and school child should see.

There are also two reels of submarine warfare in which can be seen the actual sinking of allied merchants vessels by German U-boats. The negatives from which these pictures were made fell in British hands when one of the German U-boats was captured in the English channel.

SHERIFF SHAY CALLS CONFERENCE OCT. 8

To consider the seriousness of the criminal wave that has reached Southern California in all its fury, Sheriff W. A. Shay yesterday issued a call for a conference of all peace officers in San Bernardino county to be held on Oct. 8 in the court room of department two.

Invited to the conference will be all police officers, city marshalls, deputy sheriffs, constables and railroad officers of the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

"The situation is a serious one," said Sheriff Shay, "and the conference is called for the purpose of co-ordinating the work of all officers in this county. It is the udgment of the leading offiicers of the stats that this winter will find conditions far more aggravated than even now. Something must be done to cope with the situation. We will take up the hobo sotuation, which has been serions for months, and which is to be far more serious with the coming of winter."

Within two months half a dozen officers have been killed in Southern California while in discharge of their duty. This situation will be discussed by the conference.

Because officers are being shot while making arrests even for the most trivial offenses, they no longer are safe in stopping anyone unless they have their revolvers ready for action.

Officers are doing everything they can to bring about the arrest of the two Mexicans who killed Deputy Sheriffs Crossley and Nelson at Riverside, for the punishment of these offenders would have a marked effect on the lawlss element resident in this section.

In the county jail last night were housed 56 prisoners, nearly all of them held on felony charges. This is the largest number in history. The misdemenor prisoners are in the prison camp and are not included in the count of the jail population. Some of the men held are desate characters.

The cold weather soon to open in the east will drive thousands of hoboes to California, and with them will come many desperate characters. The railroads, which are suffering heavy loss from box car burglars, are ughtening up their opposition to the hobo army riding the railroad trains and efforts are now being made to make fare evading unusually difficult in the middle western states, in the hope of turning back the wanderers.

Police departments and the sheriff's force may have to be increased if the situation does grow worse. The sheriff's force men have been working overtime the majority of the days for weeks.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTICES

At the Presbyterian church the pastor will speak both morning and evening. The morning service will be followed by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and reception of members. A quartette will sing. At the evening service the pastor will speak on, "The way things are done." The young people's choir will have charge of the music. All friends are invited.

The Sabbath School meets at 9:45 a. m.

The Junior C. E. meets at 4:00 in the afternoon.

The Senior and Intermediate C. E. meet at 6:30 in the evening.

Chaffey Community Y. M. C. A.

Members of the Chaffey Community Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts Organization met last night in the Chaffey library for their lrst business meting of the fall. Reports from the Secretaries and Treasurers were held with interest, and plans were made for a busy winter. T. N. Nisbet, president of the board, presided, and business started with enthusiasm.

SCHOOL FOR CAMP BALDY IN VIEW

Owing to the fact that there are twelve children at Camp Baldy, and nearby canyons who are without school facilities, the County Superintendent, Mrs. Grace Stanley, was petitioned to establish a school and provide a teacher. Upon investigation it was found that Camp Baldy was part of the Upland Grammar school district and the responsibility of finding school equipment devolved on the local Board.

The school trustees will drive up to Camp Baldy next week to see into conditions and interview Arthur Shay who is one of the prime movers in the petition.

ARCHIE CAMPBELL WRITES OF JAPAN

Another interesting letter was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Campbell, from their son, Archie, who wries from Kobi, Japan, August 16,th which The News has pleasure in printing:

"We left Yokahama last night at 6 o'clock, having been there only five hours. It gave almost no time to see the city, but we got quite a good deal done considering all things. As I write, I want to tell you we are in a typhoon. It has done great damage in Japan, so the paper tells us this morning. (Did I tell you that we have a daily wireless paper?) The waves are fully 50 feet high coming over the deck. All ports are closed. The wind is going 100 miles an hour, and the boat is rocking like a cork. It is quite an experience, but don't worry because we are coming out all right. The ship is holding out in fine shape. I kept my port hole open all night and only one wave came in, but it was SOME WAVE. Since my bed is nearest the window I got the full benefit; my clothes and self were drenched, but it was lots of fun to be in this. I might never be in one again, so I am glad. It does not make me sick, either. We are in a fog now, with the horrid horn going every five minutes. However, we expect to be in Kobi at noon.

It is very hot in Japan, but I have felt it less than at home, the white people are nearly dead with it, that is, all except me. I wore a coat and vest in Yokahama. In Honolulu I wore an overcoat. The temperature is about 80 only in the sun. The topees are too expensive in Japan, so I shall wait until Shanghai for one. They tell me not to buy any clothes until I reach Canton because I am better able to stand the heat than most people.

Now about Yokahama. I traveled with Dr. Arvisu. He spent last summer here, so knew where to go and how to do it. In the morning after being subjected to certain indignities by Japanese customs, Doctors and Gendarmes, we got off. Our passports seemed to be necessary for every purchase and at every street corner. But by being very sweet smiling and horridly polite I was allowed to take my camera. His Imperial Majesty's customs gendarme told me so himself. I was duly impressed (I don't think), but anyway I saluted him and we became firm friends. We made our way round on foot until lunch time, when we came back to the ship, as the doctor was afraid to eat anything we might buy. Then we ventured forth again, this time in rickshas. Those coolies are the worst I ever saw. They wanted 3 dollars gold for 24 hours, but with the aid of my friend the gendarme they gladly took one dollar gold for their work. They were hardly worth that, but we saw the town with their aid. The town smells awfully and I was glad to get back to the ship.

TWO DAYS LATER

In Yokahama we went to Bendendori street and looked at shops where the Doctor bought five umbrellas (silk) for 4 yen. A ye equals about half a dollar. Then we went to a silk shop and he bought shirts at $2.50, also bought a fine silk shawl for 6 yen. I was tempted to get some of these things but on second thought decided I could get them for half that price in Canton. Everything is just half the price of things in the United States, except some of the imports. From Bendendori street we went up Theatre street, the one in which all the theatres of the city are located. The number of Los Angeles-made movies attracted me. The titles are given in English as well as Japanese. In fact, English seems to be quite as common as the native tongue. The English is, however, strictly made in Japan; none but a Jap can understand it, either printed or spoken. We went into a department store on the above named street and what do you think they made us do? They put a sort of little bag over each shoe, so that we wouldn't get their floors dirty with our barbarian feet and foreign shoes. From here we returned to the ship for tea.

We are underway for Shanghai, which we will reach next Friday. We spent only the morning in Kobi. We came in yesterday, but the typhoon prevented us from coming up to the dock. I went with Mr. Irvin, a missionary to Shanghai, his wife and daughter, a Miss Cutler and another lady were in the party. We saw the Kobi waterfalls where there is a sort of public park with some statuary, a couple of temples and some shrines, also pine trees. It was very steep, and since the coolie couldn't take us up, we were much warmer than I for one had ever been before. It was 96 today. Kobi is the warmest place in the East, they say. Anyway, it was the best place in Japan that I saw. We shopped for more umbrellas, Jap shoes, and odds and ends. Then we visited a temple that the Emperor worships his ancestors in. I took a special picture of the inside. There is a statue of a favorite horse of one of the former kings on one side of the place. The trees all have little bits of paper tied on them, these are printed prayers, to be given to the wind ghosts so they will read them and answer the prayer. In general, there seems to be a disregard of religion throughout the land. The Shinto temples are very pretty with many trees and plants of various kinds. The Shaninists seem to run things, though. Buddhists seem quite rare. I only saw one temple.

Now, a note or two on the natural history of the place. Crickets are kept in little cages like song birds, and sold for a small sum. There are very large 17-year locusts, and quite black. Ants both black and red, are common. Beetles are numerous, mostly ground ones. Butterflies of the Papilioaidae Lycenidae, and small orange tips seem to be common, also many larvae. I saw no white ants, of coure, only a few bumble bees. Lizards like our alligator lizards, seem to be abundant. Birds are few. I saw a swallow, a hawk and some gulls. Turtles were seen in the temple grounds. Trees are mostly pine; the grass resembles much our devil grass, but is higher. Moss seemed more abundant than in Hawaii, lichen were fewer than on the Islands, and not so well colored. We came out of the inland sea a few minutes ago. It is the prettiest place I have seen except Honolulu. Towns are numerous, green fields and pines cover the hilly islands. The hills are low, about 1000 feet. It took us all night to pass through this sea. They think we made excellent time. The shores are only a mile or so apart. We didn't stop in Osaki or any of the seaports.

We will reach Shanghai some time this afternoon, so I will close and send this through the American post office. It only costs local post, other places are foreign postage.

Your son,
ARCHIE CAMPBELL.

LOCAL OFFICERS HUNT MURDERERS

A man hunt was on last night for the Mexicans who murdered the Riverside officers.

Information was received by Officer Sawyer that the Mexicans were leaving Riverside in a big touring car two women in the front seat and the two men covered up in the rear as though it was a load of baggage.

Officer Sawyer and Haughs were located at Ninteenth street while Officers Russell and Hirst were at the Y in the road at the Sycamores. All machines were stopped but a machine answering the description was not found.

The officers were on the job until 2 a. m. and one machine approaching Euclid avenue on Nineteenth street stopped a long ways from the officers and just as it stopped Officer Haughs heard the breaking of much glass. The location of the glass was easily found through the accompanying odor of strong booze.

MENNONITE NOTES

The young folks besides the choir, have organized an orchestra, which certainly will be of great value, particularly in Sunday school work.

Sunday, October 2nd, the congregation will relebrate holy hommunion, in lonnection with the regular morning servilces. This should always be a time of heart-searching in the light of God's word and of coming close to God.

Sunday evening the ladies of the missionary society will take charge and have a good program. Miss Talithea Nedfeld, a missionary in China under the General Conference Board, will be with us and deliver a missionary address. She is teacher of a girl's school at one of our mission stations.

Wednesday, October 5th, the pastor will leave to attend the Mennonite Pacific Conference held at Pratum, Oregon. As always during his absence, the work at home will very eciclently be taken care of by the ministerial brethren of our flock.

A COMBINATION

A WINNER

PROVEN ACREAGE—

That we should get a great Well is only a logical deduction from the actual facts which are known regarding the logs of Wells which are in and drilling, and our proximity to these Wells.

LOW CAPITALIZATION—

Our low capitalization means large proportional incomes to each unit holder. The man who owns $500.00 worth of interest in a $150,000 Company will receive twice as much in dividends as the man who owns $500.00 worth of interest in a $300,000 Company when the profits are equal.

EXPERIENCED MANAGEMENT—

We know that we obtained some of the best management to be had when we secured the services of Mr. J. H. Macklin as our field superintendent. Investigate Mr. Macklin's record at Huntington Beach and see for yourself what he has done in this wonder field.

Many Tramps Coming

EVERBODY seems to be agreed that the coming winter will bring the largest crop of brakebeam tourists to Southern California that an unkind fate has ever showered upon this section.

Peace officers anticipate more burglaries, hold-ups, petty thieving for next winter than ever before.

A barrier will soon be spread around Southern California by public and railroad officials to check the influx of hoboes, box-car itinerants, wanderers with radical inclinations and criminals.

Never in the history of American railroads have so many women beaten their way on trains. Scores have been taken from trains at San Bernardino during the last fortnight, and in one instance a young woman and her 9-months-old baby were removed from a box car in which they had ridden from a small Nevada city.

Scores of young women attired in khaki trousers and so-called hiking raiment have been ordered off trains at San Bernardino.

Early Migration

Heretofore the police and other officials have not been confronted with the vagrant problem before the middle of November. With the early migration of undesirables this year, unprecedented measures will be taken, and the conference which will be called will result in concrete plans of campaign being formulated.

The forces of the railroad special agents' officers have been taxed to the limit during the last fortnight, and the agents in charge are eager to participate in the conference and join the most intensive drive against vagrants

Harding's Sentiment

THE Editorial profession recently presented Editor President Harding with a fine chair as an evidence of the esteem in which he is held by members of the craft and of his promotion to the most important place in the service of his country. In accepting the gift President Harding spoke a few words that everyone should read. They come so near being those things we have wanted to hear for a long time. He said:

"Old-time conflicts, old-time affiliations, much that impelled governments and more that impelled wars, were founded on revenge; while today all of us are thinking out the things we can do to bring peoples together to create a better feeling in the world.

"I have said a great many times that I do not know what there is in the revolutions of fate. There was no particular reason why I should be President. I claim no outstanding ability I did not even want the presidency. But somehow I have believed with all my heart that by temperament and practice maybe I fitted into this peculiar situation in the world.

"The tolerance, the patience, the good will, the kindly feeling and desire to help form the greatest need in the world today. And if while I am an occupant of this chair I can add to the good feeling of our republic and then make our republic the exemplar of good feeling throughout the world, my services will not have been in vain."

Crooks Shun Kansas City

ALTHOUGH major and minor crimes have been increasing throughout the country, Kansas City shows a decrease, and gives as a reason for this record the work of an association of citizens to aid in law enforcement. During the first five months of 1920 there were nineteen murders, and 1183 burglaries. During the first five months of this year there were nine murders and 695 burglaries. Highway robberies decreased, and fewer automobiles were stolen, and more recovered than formerly. The Law Enforcement Association, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was started in a small way by some of the most influential citizens. A recent report showed that it had 898 members and operated at an average monthly expense of $1,884.61, exclusive of rewards. Rewards paid amounted to $6175.00. Two bandits are dead, one criminal has been sentenced for life and others to terms amounting in all to 298 years. About 1000 investigations have been made. The association asked for the appointment of police commissioners pledged to clean up the city and such men were named. Higher pay was obtained for the police and higher grade men put on the force. The association employed operatives and offered rewards. One investigation showed that from October 1920, to March 1921, about 75,000 illegal narcotic prescriptions had been written and filed. Traffic in narcotics has been broken up to a large extent. Reform in the lower courts has been obtained. In some instances men elected as judges were giving up the bench to friends who were not qualified to sit. The association stopped the special judge evil. The police department has co-operated in all the work done and Kansas City is becoming known as a good town for crooks to shun.

ETIWANDA

Saturday was a red letter day for the members of Mrs. Mamie Cour's Sunday School class of girls, who went to Fairmont Park at Riverside for an all-day picnic. Judging from the sxhaustion of the young ladies the day after, they must have had a perfectly glorious time. Rev. C. W. Greenlee, assisted Mr. L. H. Tilden in getting the crowd there and back by automobile: Mrs. Mamie Cour, Msses Gertrude Greenlee, Dorothy and Ruth Brownless, Irene Scott, Frances Spence, Frances Geidner, Alice Bacon, Evelyn Koch, Winifred Hickcox, Roberta Henderson and Ruby Dugdale. Rev. Greenlee left the picnic in the afternoon to respond to the call for men to hunt up the two Mexicans wanted in Riverside for murder. Word having been received that they were hiding in a certain cornfield, a large volunteer force was needed to surround them and Rev. Greenlee was issued a gun and joined the chase. As he had been at "Seven Keys to Baldpate" the night before, he got the dramatic effect if he failed, with the others, in finding the Mexicans.

And by the way, nothing that happens in Etiwanda draws a much larger crowd than the number who went from here to attend the play given Friday and Saturday evenings by the Community Players at Chaffey Auditorium. Nearly all of the forty high school young people were out and among the older people, the few we saw were the Rev. Greenlees, the John Scotts, the Fred Kochs, Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kraner, the Glen Shepherds, the Rayland Jones and the A. C. Smiths.

Miss Helen Burbank, a most excellent story teller, interested the children in Junior Church Sunday morning with a missionary story, as is her wont once in three months. This story was that of the life of a little girl in China. China is the country to which the next offering from this society is sent.

Next Sunday morning the Sunday School will have their summer Christmas tree and a box starts early next week to reach a mission field in India for Christmas time. A list was read calling for articles, many of which were contributed by those present last Sunday morning and over $25 in cash was given for expressage to buy any articles which might not be donated, so that the Christmas package might be complete.

Word was received here the past week of the death of Abraham Kumler, for many years a resident of Etiwanda. His death occurred a week ago Sunday at Visalia, California. Mrs. Kumler died over four years ago at the home in Los Angeles where the family resided after leaving Etiwanda. Mrs. Aaron Caffine, a daughter, and Mr. Richard Kumler, a son, at whose home he had lived the last few years, survive him. Mr. C. N. Rose of this place is a brother-in-lay of the deceased.

Mrs. Graham of Creston, Nebraska, who comes to California for her winters has returned to Ontario and came over Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dorriss at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bartee of Los Angeles spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Utman.

Mrs. Snyder of Riverside came over Sunday and is visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Price and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Myers spent Saturday and Sunday at Big Bear with the outing taken there by the Commercial Secretarys and their wives.

The Sunday School announces Rally Day a week from next Sunday. A committee of six of the young people are to try to get every member of every family out on Rally Day and secure the best possible attendance at Sunday School during the next three months.

Communion Service is to be observed at Church hour next Sunday morning and a full attendance of the members of the church is asked by the pastor.

A committee has been appointed by the Parent Teachers Association present to secure Mrs. Frederick E. Rader one of the evenings she is visiting in Etiwanda for a talk on Alaska. Mrs. Rader is expected some time next week and on Friday evening, October 7th, a reception will be given in her honor in the church parlors, to which all of her local friends are cordially invited.

The Etiwanda Citrus Association has been making some improvements in the packing plant here. A cement floor for the basement will greatly improve the quarters used in the storage of lemons. The work is being done by a Cucamonga contractor.

Mr. A. C. Smith and his buest, Dr. K. C. Davis of Nasville, Tenn., with Mr. Walter Kennedy of Monrovia motored to the top of Mt. Wilson Friday. Mrs. Smith, Billy and Phyllis spent the day in Monrovia with Mrs. Ella Waugh. Dr. Davis left Saturday for Yosemite Valley, which he will visit before returning to Nashville.

Mr. Frank Hickcox has returned from a trip to Pinole where he visited his son, Ross Hickcox, and is busy at the Arrowhead Vineyard Company's tract. He was a dinner guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McNurlin.

Mrs. Eva R. Fisher is a passenger on the Chaffey school car every morning as she goes over to assist in the Chaffey Cafeteria.

Mr. E. G. Rader is in the East attending the National encampment of the G. A. R., at Indianapolis Indiana, after which he will spend the time limit on his ticket with Ohio relatives.

Misses Emily and Frances Geidner who are attending Los Angeles Polytechnic high school, came home Friday evening for the week-end with the family.

Mr. Max Rainier of Pomona was also a guest on Sunday at the Geidner home.

Miss Ethel Goheen of Manhattan, Kansas, who made a good many friends here while she was the guest of Mrs. Charles Donnelly, was married recently to a Mr. Edgar and will reside in Sterling, Kansas.

Mr. Tragear is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Myers while he is here looking after the crop on his ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Orendorff and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pearson spent Sunday picnicing along the Santa Ana river. They claim to have gone in bathing in the river, which some people are inclined to doubt.

Miss Margaret Reynolds, Intermediate teacher, was out of school Monday afternoon, too ill from the intense heat to continue her work. The school children in her department had the afternoon off. Miss Reynolds comes from a cooler part of the state and finds the climate here the past few days very trying.

Mrs. Charles Donnelly spent Wednesday afternoon at Riverside with her friend, Mrs. Herbert Highland.

PRISCILLA CIRCLE MEET AT WHITTIER—

Members of the Priscilla Circle opened their fall meeting by accepting a invitation from Mrs. E. J. Needham, formerly of Upland, to meet with her at her Whittier home. Leaving Upland about nine o'clock, sixteen members and guests motored to the Quaker City, where they were very warmly welcomed by Mrs. Needham.

A delicious chicken dinner was served at one o'clock, and the whole day was one of great pleasure.

Mrs. W. F. Kitchel, the president called for a short business meeting and plans were made for winter work. One of the prettiest home weddings of the early fall was that celebrated last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bradley on east 9th street when their daughter Ardys became the wife of Marshall Mills of Brawley.

The archway between the living room and library was a bower of pink carnations and ferns, the pillars on either side being flanked with baskets of the same blossoms.

Miss Bradley wore a gown of white organdie, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations. The wedding service was read by the Rev. R. C. Stone, and Miss Verna Jacques sang very sweetly two vocal solos, "At Dawning" and "Because." The wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Rider, an intimate friend of the bride's.

According to his figures, the planes average about six minutes making the trip. Pilots have appeared over the Tavern within four minutes after reporting being over Little Bear.

Duck hunting will not be permitted this season by the new owners of Arrowhead Lake, which was formerly Little Bear, it was announced last night by Game Warden Bill Malone. Because many ducks in Big Bear Valley will be driven out after several days of the big barrage that will open Saturday morning and, finding everything quiet at Little Bear, settle there, state game authorities are to ask the Arrowhead Lake Company for permission to arrange some kind of a stunt that would drive the ducks back to Big Bear.

Four mountain branches of the county free library will be kept open throughout the winter, it has been decided by Miss Caroline Waters, county librarian, following requests from respective districts asking their maintenance. He suffered several broken ribs and severe scalp wounds and was in a semi-conscious condition several days. According to physicians now caring for him. H. G. Woodro and T. J. Stoner were yesterday fined $60 each by Judge Belden, Cucamonga, after having been found guilty of stealing grapes from the vineyard of the Garrison company. Woodro and Stoner are alleged to have been taken in the act of carrying lug boxes full of grapes from the vineyard to a waiting automobile.

The present heat wave is not at the right time of year to cause noticeable results in the killing of scale on citrus trees, in the opinion of county horticultural inspectors who held their regular monthly meeting with Commissioner J. P. Coy at the office of the Farm Bureau in San Bernardino. The heat will kill some of the scale, in the opinion of the workers, but no great benefit will be derived by tre growers. Whether the good done will offset the damage to fruit by the heat is doubtful.

Breaking into a log cabin belonging to C. T. McCullough, a short distance below Camp Baldy theieves last night made away with loot to the value of $200 or more. The burglary was committed about 10 o'clock, according to reports. The cabin, which is used for parties and social gatherings, was unoccupied and the robbers carried away a number of large articles, including a new Victrola, without being detected.

A MAN FOR THE AGES

A STORY OF THE BUILDERS of DEMOCRACY

BY IRVING BACHELLER

COPYRIGHT IRVING BACHELLER

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Samson and Sarah Traylor, with their two children, Josiah and Betsey, travel by wagon from their home in Vergennes, Vt., to the West, the land of plenty. Their destination is the Country of the Sangamon, in Illinois.

CHAPTER II.—At Niagara Falls they meet a party of immigrants, among them a youth named John McNeil, who also decides to go to the Sangamon country. All of the party suffer from fever and ague. Sarah's ministrations save the life of a youth, Harry Needles, in the last stages of fever, and he accompanies the Traylors. They reach New Salem, Illinois, and are welcomed by young "Abe" Lincoln.

CHAPTER III.—Among the Traylors' first acquaintances are Lincoln's friends, Jack Kelso and his pretty daughter Bim, 16 years of age.

CHAPTER IV.—Samson decides to locate at New Salem, and begins building his house. Led by Jack Armstrong, rowdies attempt to break up the proceedings. Lincoln thrashes Armstrong. Young Harry Needles strikes Bap McNoll, of the Armstrong crowd, and McNoll threatens vengeance.

CHAPTER V.—A few days later Harry, alone, is attacked by McNoll and his gang, and would have been roughly used had not Bim driven off his assailants with a shotgun. John McNeil, the Traylors' Niagara Falls acquaintance, is markedly attentive to Ann Rutledge. Lincoln is in love with Ann, but has never had enough courage to tell her so.

Harry was the first prisoner. He went straight to Bim Kelso and bowed and knelt, and when he had risen she turned and ran like a scared deer around the chairs and the crowd of onlookers, some assisting and some checking her flight, before the nimble youth. Hard pressed, she ran out of the open door, with a merry laugh, and just beyond the steps Harry caught and kissed her, and her cheeks had the color of roses when he led her back.

John McNeil kissed Ann Rutledge that evening and was most attentive to her, and the women were saying that the two had fallen in love with each other.

"See how she looks at him," one of them whispered.

"Well, it's just the way he looks at her," the other answered.

At the first pause in the merriment Kelso stood on a chair, and then silence fell upon the little company.

"My good neighbors," he began, "we are here to rejoice that new friends have come to us and that a new home is born in our midst. We bid them welcome. They are big-boned, big-hearted folks. No man has grown large who has not at one time or another had his feet in the soil and felt its magic power going up into his blood and bone and sinew. Here is a wonderful soil and the inspiration of wide horizons; here are broad and fertile fields. Where the corn grows high you can grow statesmen. It may be that out of one of these little cabins a man will come to carry the torch of Liberty and Justice so high that its light will shine into every dark place. So let no one despise the cabin—humble as it is. Samson and Sarah Traylor, I welcome and congratulate you. Whatever may come, you can find no better friends than these, and of this you may be sure, no child of the prairies will ever go about with a hand organ and a monkey. Our friend, Honest Abe, is one of the few rich men in this neighborhood. Among his assets are 'Kirkham's Grammar,' 'The Pilgrim's Progress,' the 'Lives of Washington and Henry Clay,' 'Hamlet's Soliloquy,' 'Othello's Speech to the Senate,' 'Marc Anthony's Address' and a part of 'Webster's Reply to Hayne.' A man came along the other day and sold him a barrel of rubbish for two bits. In it he found a volume of 'Blackstone's Commentaries.' Old Blackstone challenged him to a wrestle and Abe has grappled with him. I reckon he'll take his measure as easily as he took Jack Armstrong's. Lately he has got possession of a noble asset. It is 'The Cotter's Saturday Night,' by Robert Burns. I propose to ask him to let us share his enjoyment of this treasure."

Abe, who had been sitting with his legs doubled beneath him on a buffalo skin, between Joe and Betsey Traylor, rose and said:

"Mr. Kelso's remarks, especially the part which applied to me, remind me of the story of the prosperous grocer of Joliet. One Saturday night he and his boys were busy selling sausage. Suddenly in came a man with whom he had quarreled and laid two dead cats on the counter.

"'There,' said he, 'this makes seven today. I'll call Monday and get my money.'

"We were doing a good business here making fun. It seems a pity to ruin it and throw suspicion on the quality of the goods by throwing a cat on the counter."

This raised a storm of merriment, after which he recited the poem of Burns, with keen appreciation of its quality. Samson repeatedly writes of his gift for interpretation, especially of the comic, and now and then lays particular stress on his power of mimicry.

John Cameron sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill" and "Forty Years Ago, Tom." Samson played while the older people danced until midnight. Then, after noisy farewells, men, women and children started in the moonlit road toward the village. Ann Rutledge had Abe on one arm and John McNeil on the other.

CHAPTER VI.

Which Describes the Lonely Life in a Prairie Cabin and a Stirring Adventure on the Underground Railroad About the Time It Began Operations.

"He and His Boys Were Busy Selling Sausages."

When Samson paid Mr. Gollaher, a "detector" came with the latter to look at the money before it was accepted. There were many counterfeits and bills good only at a certain discount of face value going about those days and the detector was in great request. Directly after moving in, Samson dug a well and lined it with a hollow log. He bought tools and another team and then he and Harry began their fall plowing. Day after day for weeks they paced with their turning furrows until a hundred acres, stretching half a mile to the west and well to the north of the house, were black with them. Fever and ague descended upon the little home in the early winter.

In a letter to her brother, dated January 4th, 1832, Sarah writes:

"We have been longing for news from home, but not a word has come from you. It don't seem as if we could stand it unless we hear from you or some of the folks once in a while. We are not dead just because we are a thousand miles away. We want to hear from you. Please write and let us know how father and mother are and all the news. We have all been sick with the fever and ague. It is a beautiful country and the soil is very rich, but there is some sickness. Samson and I were both sick at the same time. I never knew Samson to give up before. He couldn't go on, his head ached so. Little Joe helped me get the fire started and brought some water and waited on us. Harry Needles had gone away to Springfield for Mr. Offut with a drove of hogs. Two other boys are with him. He is going to buy a new suit. He is a very proud boy. Joe and Betsey got back with the doctor at nine. That night Abe Lincoln came and sat up with us and gave us our medicine and kept the fire going. It was comical to see him lying beside Joe in his trundle bed, with his long legs sticking over the end of it and his feet standing on the floor about a yard from the bed. He was spread all over the place. He talked about religion and his views would shock most of our friends in the East. He doesn't believe in the kind of Heaven that the ministers talk about or any eternal hell. He says that nobody knows anything about the hereafter, except that God is a kind and forgiving father and that all men are His children. He says that we can only serve God by serving each other. He seems to think that every man, good or bad, black or white, rich or poor, is his brother. He thinks that Henry Clay, next to Daniel Webster, is the greatest man in the country. He is studying hard. Expects to go out and make speeches for Clay next summer. He is quite severe in his talk against General Jackson. He and Samson agree in politics and religion. They are a good deal alike. He is very fond of Samson and Harry—calls them his partners. We love this big awkward giant. His feet are set in the straight way and we think that he is going to make his mark in the world.

"You said you would come out next spring to look about. Please don't disappoint us. I think it would almost break my heart. I am counting the days. Don't be afraid of fever and ague. Sapington's pills cure it in three or four days. I would take the steamboat at Pittsburg, the roads in Ohio and Indiana are so bad. You can get a steamer up the Illinois river at Alton and get off at Beardstown and drive across country. If we knew when you were coming Samson or Abe would meet you. Give our love to all the folks and friends.

"Yours affectionately,
"Sarah and Samson."

It had been a cold winter and not easy to keep comfortable in the little house. In the worst weather Samson had used to get up at night to keep the fire going. Late in January a wind from the southeast melted the snow and warmed the air of the midlands so that, for a week or so, it seemed as if spring were come. One night of this week Sambo awoke the family with his barking. A strong wind was rushing across the plains and roaring over the cabin and wailing in its chimney. Suddenly there was a rap on its door. When Samson opened it he saw in the moonlight a young colored man and woman standing near the doorstep

"Is dis Mistah Traylor?" the young man asked.

"It is," said Samson. "What can I do for you?"

"Mas'r, de good Lord done fotched us here to ask you fo' help," said the negro. "We be nigh wone out with cold an' hungah, suh, 'deed we be."

Samson asked them in and put wood on the fire, and Sarah got up and made some hot tea and brought food from the cupboard and gave it to the strangers, who sat shivering in the firelight. They were a good-looking pair, the young woman being almost white. They were man and wife. The latter stopped eating and moaned and shook with emotion as her husband told their story. Their master had died the year before and they had been brought to St. Louis to be sold in the slave market. There they had escaped by night and gone to the house of an old friend of their former owner who lived north of the city on the river shore. He had taken pity on them and brought them across the Mississippi and started them on the north road with a letter to Elijah Lovejoy of Alton and a supply of food. Since then they had been hiding days in the swamps and thickets and had traveled by night. Mr. Lovejoy had sent them to Erastus Wright of Springfield, and Mr. Wright had given them the name of Samson Traylor and the location of his cabin. From there they were bound for the house of John Peasley, in Hopedale, Tazewell county.

Lovejoy had asked them to keep the letter with which they had begun their travels. The letter stated that their late master had often expressed his purpose of leaving them their freedom when he should pass away. He had left no will and since his death the two had fallen into the hands of his nephew, a despotic, violent young drunkard of the name of Biggs.

Samson was so moved by their story that he hitched up his horses and put some hay in the wagon box and made off with the fugitives up the road to the north in the night. When daylight came he covered them with hay. About eight o'clock he came to a frame house and barn, the latter being of unusual size for that time and country. Above the door of the barn was a board which bore the stenciled legend: "John Peasley, Orwell Farm."

As Samson drew near the house he observed a man working on the roof of a woodshed. Something familiar in his look held the eye of the New Salem man. In half a moment he recognized the face of Henry Brimstead. It was now a cheerful face. Brimstead came down from the ladder and they shook hands.

"Good land o' Goshen! How did you get here?" Samson asked. Brimstead answered:

"Through the help of a feller that looks like you an' the grit of a pair o' horses. Come down this road early in September on my way to the land o' plenty. Found Peasley here. Couldn't help it. Saw his name on the barn. Used to go to school with him in Orwell. He offered to sell me some land with a house on it an' trust me for his pay. I liked the looks o' the country and so I didn't go no further. I was goin' to write you a letter, but I hain't got around to it yet. Ain't forgot what you done for us, I can tell ye that."

"Well, this looks better than the sand plains—a lot better—and you look better than the flea farmer back in York state. How are the children?"

"Fat an' happy an' well dressed. Mrs. Peasley has been a mother to 'em an' her sister is goin' to be a wife to me." He came close to Samson and added in a confidential tone: "Say, if I was any happier I'd be scairt. I'm like I was when I got over the toothache—so scairt for fear it would come back I was kind o' miserable."

Mr. Peasley came out of the door. He was a big, full-bearded, jovial man

"I've got a small load o' hay for you," said Samson.

"I was expecting it, though I supposed 'twould be walkin'—in the dark o' night," Peasley answered. "Drive in on the barn floor."

When Samson had driven into the barn its doors were closed and the negroes were called from their place of hiding. Samson writes:

NASH SIX

Little Studies of its Interior

The better one knows the interior of the Nash Six the greater will be the admiration for the thorough workmanship and the simplicity of its mechanism.

LUBRICATION

The lubrication system of the chassis is the acme of simplicity. It takes only a few moments of time. THERE ARE ONLY FOUR GREASE-CUPS. Spring oilers take care of the remainder of the bearing points. These oiling points are all easily accessible from above.

Through Her Events

Draper's funeral chapel was packed to overflowing yesterday afternoon and scores were able to get no nearer than the lawn surrounding the building for the funeral of Mrs. Laurel Mayhew Fredericksen, wife of Dr. H. W. Fredericksen, whose death Saturday night came as a shock to the entire city. Mrs. Fredericksen was president of the Current Events Club, the largest women's organization in the city, to which she was elected for a second term last spring, and was a member of the board of trustees of the San Bernardino County Federation of Women's Clubs. Current Events Club members, 100 strong, attended the funeral in a body. Mrs. Fredericksen was immensely popular in Ontario, where she had spent the greater part of her life. She was 33 years of age. Pall bearers were officials of the First National Bank, with which concern she was connected as teller before her marriage. Floral offerings were countless and of rare beauty. The services were under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist and interment was in Bellevue cemetery.

Arrested on complaint of Councilman Charles Latimer, O. E. Bennett, well-known Ontario restaurant proprietor, was yesterday sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail for reckless driving, following his trial before Judge George R. Holbrook. Bennett is alleged to have backed his motor car from the curb on the east driveway of Euclid avenue between A and B street in such a reckless manner as to collide with a car being driven by J. S. Ingalls, who was accompanied by Councilman Latimer. The restauranteur was arrested by M. J. Rushen, recently appointed city motor officer. In court, Mr. Bennett pleaded not guilty and asked for trial by the court. Messrs Latimer, Ingalls and Rushen testified against him. Judge Holbrook found him guilty and despite pleas that he be allowed to pay a fine, ordered him to jail and issued the committment. He was taken to San Bernardino yesterday afternoon.

In an effort to interest students to the extent that they will open bank accounts, the Ontario National Bank today offered a prize of $50 to the class of Chaffey High School or Junior College whose members are the most thrifty. The prize will be awarded to the class with the most members having accounts, not the amount of money deposited. Only one dollar is necessary to open the account and it is expected that many will avail themselves of this oportunity for each class can use the $50 very nicely. Some time in November, the bank is to award three prizes for the best essays on thrift. There will be prizes of $15, $10 and $5 each and the contest will be conducted through the various English classes commencing November 15.

In his efforts to miss striking a large truck parked in the east driveway of Euclid ave., whose tail light was scarcely visible and which he failed to notice until almost upon it, Raymond Hopkins 530 West Grove street driving north on Euclid Wednesday night, swerved to the left so sharply as to collide with a car being driven south on Euclid by Everett Duley of Upland. Both cars were considerably wrecked, but no one was hurt. The crash was so loud as to to be heard for several blocks around.

Mrs. Ruben Schettler of Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, was hostess at a luncheon of delightful appointments yesterday afternoon at Hotel Casa Blanca. Old-fashioned bouquets were used with artistic effect in table decoration. The luncheon was served in courses in the attractive blue and gold dining room. Covers were indicated for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathers, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bransford, Mr. and Mrs. Sufferin and Mrs. Weaver of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donley of Ontario; and Mrs. Schettler.

Rumors that the alleged Mexican murder of two Riverside officers recently had been seen in the vicinity of Guasti, kept Ontario officers up most of the night along with representatives of the sheriff's offices in both San Bernardino and Riverside but the hunt was without result.

tion, the Ontario police department Wednesday afternoon had nabbed a burglar, recovered the loot, obtained a confession and lodged the thief in jail within one half hour after the job was reported. At 1 p. m. the police department was notified that the caboose of a Southern Pacific train had been robbed of a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes and other articles belonging to H. E. Wilson, a brakeman, while the train was standing on a siding between Laurel and Vine avenues, sometime between 12:20 and 12:55. Through the prompt work of Officer Arthur Axley, Carlos Cano, a Mexican lad, giving his age as 17, was caught with all the loot in his possession, had made a complete confession and was lodged in the city jail by 1:30. The youth was arrested in the vicinity of Vine avenue and Main street. He claimed to have come from El Paso and to have been in Southern California but a few weeks.

Mrs. A. D. Skillman and her infant son, Arthur, narrowly escaped death and the former was painfully hurt Tuesday night when they were thrown from a motor car driven by Mr. Skillman at the intersection of San Antonio avenue and Belmont street in a crash between the Skillman car and another machine driven by T. M. Nolan. Mrs. Skillman and the baby were thrown from the car to the pavement, the former striking on the back of her head. She was rushed to her home in Cypress avenue, where she was found to be suffering from severe scalp wounds and shock, but her condition was not considered serious. The baby escaped with minor hurts. Mr. Skillman and Mrs. A. H. Hayden, who accompanied them, were not hurt.

IRONTON BUNSEN GAS HEATERS PAY FOR THEMSELVES WITH THE GAS THEY SAVE

By tests at the Columbia University, New York City, on artificial gas, a saving of 65% was recorded over well known types. At the Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, on natural gas, a saving of 32⅝½ was marked up over well known types. And this is not all: These tests show the heat is positively free from odor, soot, smoke and poisonous gas, carbon monoxide. They circulate the cold air from the floor, and change a chilly room to one of pleasant comfort, much better and faster. A radiant glow is diffused over the floor, and it is made fit for the children to play on, and a god place to keep your feet warm. 40t1
